Focusing on elder issues that impact the Latino community, the Latino Center on Aging and several other prestigious organizations are conducting its seventh conference on Alzheimer's Disease for South Florida area residents in Spanish. The purpose is to inform, educate and train all who are involved in the care of persons with Alzheimer's disease. The conference provides a unique forum for the elderly and caregivers to discuss important issues on a one-on-one basis, offering a great opportunity to network with knowledgeable experts and those in need.
